The schooner Manan, Captain Meigs, of Stamford, took out last week a select party of twenty-two Methodist ministers and prominent laymen of the church for an exsursion around the coast. The schooner arrived off Newport, R. I., on Sunday, where they were to remain a day or so, and will probably reach home Thursday or Friday of this week. The whole excursion is at the expense of Senator Oliver Hoyt, of Stamford, who has spared no pains to provide for the comfort and convenience of his guests. All the delicacies of the season are provided with unstinted liberality, and the guests are unanimous in their praises. The trip thus far has been a delightful one, with nothing to mar the pleasures of the occasion. The party consists of Senator Oliver Hoyt, of Stamford, and two sons, Rev. Drs. Tiffany, Upham, Crook and Goodsell; Revs. G. E.

Reed, T. H. Burch (a former pastor of the First M. E. church here), J. Case, W. L. Phillips, Samuel Scoville and I. J. Lansing, of Stamford; O. H. Horton, of Chicago; William D. Farwell, of New York; Gilbert Potter and Dr. Fiske, of Brooklyn; General Clinton B. Fiske, Thomas Manle, Jame Longaere and Thomas Price, of Philadelphia and Walter Close, of New York. Rev. Dr. Goodsell, of Trinity M. E. church of this city, is one of the guests, and writes that with the exception of foggy nights the trip has been all that could be desired. Dr. Goodsell preaches in Dwight Place Congregational church for the next three Sabbaths in the absence of Rev. Mr. Bacon, Trinity M E. church uniting with them in the service

Last evening a very interesting occasion ook place at the armory of Company A, Fifth battalion, at their armory on Crown street. It was the occurrence of a presenta, tion by ex-Captain James H. stance as follows: I have been deputized to present to you this life size portrait of your ing year, and passed resolutions for the im- old commander, J. H. Wilkins. About this city. He remained until the rebellion broke out and then offered himself as a vol unteer. He was rejected because he was colored man, and then he went to Massachusetts, where he enlisted in the Fifty-fourth regiment in that State. He returned to this city after a gallant service in the war, and since then you know his history. He was one of the first to advance this organization, and under all circumstances he has held an open hand to churches, societies and other kindred institutions. Would it not be well, said the speaker, if we had more of such liberal mer ong us. I believe that this company well worthy of the name of "Wilkins" and the reception of his portrait will be honored by this command. Let me ask you then to oe more vigilant in your duties, and not onin let it be said that the Fifth battalion no credit to the Connecticut National Guard Respect your officers and they will respect you. Let there be no dissensions among you, attend to every military duty, and when your five years expire Connecticut will feel that she cannot do without your services. There is no prouder title than that you have served your State and country faithfully and well. I believe that you will go into camp next year, The speaker referred to the late Colonel Baon who was the first white officer to come into the armory and impart his military knowledge to the company. In conclusion he asked the company in behalf of Captain proud of Captain Wilkins, whom he though hey could speak well of at all times. Captain Wilkins entered the room and was received with a round of hearty cheers. He was called on for a speech, and spoke a few words of encouragement. He said the bat talion had strong friends in the Connecticut National Guard All the battalion had to do was to compete with the National Guard and they would be respected. He believed the tide was turning in favor of the colored men. He urged them to stick close to this organiza tion.
